

Tenants say weekend vandalism on industrial estate must end

TENANTS at Bradbridge Road on the A166 in East Yorkshire are fed up with the damage on Monday morning.

The latest incident between a family on Saturday and two on Sunday at Artcraft Rusty Works, highlights the need for action on the A166.

Police are trying to locate the remaining premises which started three months ago, and have seen many complaints on the privately owned estate targeted.

Artcraft has suffered two break ins during the past week, with "hundreds of pounds" worth of hand tools and equipment stolen.

Police are trying to locate the remaining premises which started three months ago, and have seen many complaints on the privately owned estate targeted.

Artcraft has suffered two break ins during the past week, with "hundreds of pounds" worth of hand tools and equipment stolen.

Police are trying to locate the remaining premises which started three months ago, and have seen many complaints on the privately owned estate targeted.

Gipsies angry as fair is scrapped

THE GIPSY Council is angry and disappointed with the decision to cancel the Horsmonden Horse Fair, usually held on the second Sunday of September.

At a meeting at Horsmonden community centre, parish councillors told Gipsy Council members about the decision.

Anne Bagwell, secretary of the East Sussex Gipsy Council, said: "We went hoping it would be a discussion to sort problems out, but soon realised the decision had already been made without our consultation."

"I asked for information, but never received it. We feel we have been misled."

Horsmonden parish has been organising the fair since 1980. It is a day of fun and games, and attracts visitors from all over the county.

Ms Bagwell said the council's decision was a "disappointment" and that the council should have consulted the Gipsy Council before making the decision.

She said the council had been told that the fair was a "nuisance" and that it was a "safety hazard".

Ms Bagwell said the council should have consulted the Gipsy Council before making the decision.

THE GIPSY COUNCIL is angry and disappointed with the decision to cancel the Horsmonden Horse Fair, usually held on the second Sunday of September.

At a meeting at Horsmonden community centre, parish councillors told Gipsy Council members about the decision.

Anne Bagwell, secretary of the East Sussex Gipsy Council, said: "We went hoping it would be a discussion to sort problems out, but soon realised the decision had already been made without our consultation."

"I asked for information, but never received it. We feel we have been misled."

Horsmonden parish has been organising the fair since 1980. It is a day of fun and games, and attracts visitors from all over the county.

Ms Bagwell said the council's decision was a "disappointment" and that the council should have consulted the Gipsy Council before making the decision.

Ms Bagwell said the council should have consulted the Gipsy Council before making the decision.

She said the council had been told that the fair was a "nuisance" and that it was a "safety hazard".

Ms Bagwell said the council should have consulted the Gipsy Council before making the decision.

Ms Bagwell said the council should have consulted the Gipsy Council before making the decision.

She said the council had been told that the fair was a "nuisance" and that it was a "safety hazard".

Ms Bagwell said the council should have consulted the Gipsy Council before making the decision.

Ms Bagwell said the council should have consulted the Gipsy Council before making the decision.

She said the council had been told that the fair was a "nuisance" and that it was a "safety hazard".

Ms Bagwell said the council should have consulted the Gipsy Council before making the decision.

Ms Bagwell said the council should have consulted the Gipsy Council before making the decision.

She said the council had been told that the fair was a "nuisance" and that it was a "safety hazard".

Ms Bagwell said the council should have consulted the Gipsy Council before making the decision.

Ms Bagwell said the council should have consulted the Gipsy Council before making the decision.

She said the council had been told that the fair was a "nuisance" and that it was a "safety hazard".

Ms Bagwell said the council should have consulted the Gipsy Council before making the decision.

Ms Bagwell said the council should have consulted the Gipsy Council before making the decision.

She said the council had been told that the fair was a "nuisance" and that it was a "safety hazard".

Ms Bagwell said the council should have consulted the Gipsy Council before making the decision.

Ms Bagwell said the council should have consulted the Gipsy Council before making the decision.

She said the council had been told that the fair was a "nuisance" and that it was a "safety hazard".

Ms Bagwell said the council should have consulted the Gipsy Council before making the decision.

Ms Bagwell said the council should have consulted the Gipsy Council before making the decision.

She said the council had been told that the fair was a "nuisance" and that it was a "safety hazard".

Ms Bagwell said the council should have consulted the Gipsy Council before making the decision.

Ms Bagwell said the council should have consulted the Gipsy Council before making the decision.

She said the council had been told that the fair was a "nuisance" and that it was a "safety hazard".

Ms Bagwell said the council should have consulted the Gipsy Council before making the decision.

Ms Bagwell said the council should have consulted the Gipsy Council before making the decision.

She said the council had been told that the fair was a "nuisance" and that it was a "safety hazard".

Ms Bagwell said the council should have consulted the Gipsy Council before making the decision.

Ms Bagwell said the council should have consulted the Gipsy Council before making the decision.

She said the council had been told that the fair was a "nuisance" and that it was a "safety hazard".

Ms Bagwell said the council should have consulted the Gipsy Council before making the decision.

QUITE A CATCH: Angler Bill Sparrowhawk holding a carp which weighed in at 5lb 2oz.

Big fish caught in lake

Angler Bill Sparrowhawk holding a carp which weighed in at 5lb 2oz.

The fish was caught in a lake near the village of Sparrowhawk.

Mr Sparrowhawk said the fish was a "real beauty" and that he was "proud" to have caught it.

He said the fish was "in excellent condition" and that it was "a real treat" to have caught it.

Mr Sparrowhawk said the fish was a "real beauty" and that he was "proud" to have caught it.

Mr Sparrowhawk said the fish was a "real beauty" and that he was "proud" to have caught it.

He said the fish was "in excellent condition" and that it was "a real treat" to have caught it.

Mr Sparrowhawk said the fish was a "real beauty" and that he was "proud" to have caught it.

Mr Sparrowhawk said the fish was a "real beauty" and that he was "proud" to have caught it.

He said the fish was "in excellent condition" and that it was "a real treat" to have caught it.

Mr Sparrowhawk said the fish was a "real beauty" and that he was "proud" to have caught it.

Mr Sparrowhawk said the fish was a "real beauty" and that he was "proud" to have caught it.

He said the fish was "in excellent condition" and that it was "a real treat" to have caught it.

Mr Sparrowhawk said the fish was a "real beauty" and that he was "proud" to have caught it.

Mr Sparrowhawk said the fish was a "real beauty" and that he was "proud" to have caught it.

He said the fish was "in excellent condition" and that it was "a real treat" to have caught it.

Mr Sparrowhawk said the fish was a "real beauty" and that he was "proud" to have caught it.

Mr Sparrowhawk said the fish was a "real beauty" and that he was "proud" to have caught it.

He said the fish was "in excellent condition" and that it was "a real treat" to have caught it.

Mr Sparrowhawk said the fish was a "real beauty" and that he was "proud" to have caught it.

Mr Sparrowhawk said the fish was a "real beauty" and that he was "proud" to have caught it.

He said the fish was "in excellent condition" and that it was "a real treat" to have caught it.

Mr Sparrowhawk said the fish was a "real beauty" and that he was "proud" to have caught it.

Great reasons this summer to

Record-breaking war and peace show keeps growing

THE MILENNIUM WAR AND PEACE SHOW